SEA GLASS FICTION CONTEST FOR STUDENTS

We invite students in grades 3-12 to write an original story about this pictured piece of sea glass.

Sea glass is found along shorelines, having begun as discarded glass items on beaches. Through the years, ocean waves polish and tumble glass to form frosted gems.

In line with The Whaling Museum's annual Sea Glass Festival, we invite students of Nassau & Suffolk Counties to imagine what story the pictured object tells. Winners will be highlighted at the Festival on July 21, 2024 and published in TBR News Media.
